DANZIG NAZIS FACE GENERAL STRIKE THREAT

Sequel To Seizure of Trade Union Office.

RETURN OF HEADQUARTERS DEMANDED.

Danzig, Yesterday.
A general strike is to be declared here at 11 a.m. today unless the Socialist Trade Union Building, seized by the Nazis yesterday, is relinquished.
The Nazi flag was hoisted on the building after its occupation, and the seizure was carried out quietly, without either opposition or disturbance.

Two heavy loads of police and two detachments of "Storm Troops" took part in the coup.—Reuter.

ONLY A PARTIAL STRIKE.

The strike declared at 11 a.m. today, only involves part of the city's industries and utilities.
The City is calm, and the Nazis are still in possession of the Trade Union Building.—Reuter.

Printers Strike in Berlin.

(Reuter's Special Service.)

Berlin, Yesterday.
The printing staff of the Ullstein Publishing Company, one of the largest of its kind on the Continent, have struck as a protest against the presence of "anti-Nazi and anti-Government elements."

The employees demand the dismissal of the Jewish members of the staff. There are a large number of Jews employed by the concern, including 160 on the editorial side.

The Vossische Zeitung and other Ullstein newspapers did not appear today, and the combine Ullstein, who employ 11,000 people are endeavouring to settle the differences.

In the event of failure, however, the State Commissioner will be appointed to control the Company.

FINANCIAL CRISIS IN BELGIUM.

(Reuter's Special Service.)

Brussels, Yesterday.
A Bill, granting emergency powers to the Belgian Government to balance the Budget and deal with the financial situation was today passed by the Chamber by 90 votes to 82, after a 20-hour sitting.

BOTH MILITARY AND ECONOMIC DISARMAMENT

Essential For Success At Conference.

GERMAN DELEGATE AGREES WITH MR. ROOSEVELT.

(Reuter's Special Service.)

Washington, Yesterday.

President Roosevelt and Herr Schacht, President of the Reichsbank, today issued a joint manifesto, stating that the World Economic Conference cannot achieve success "unless, with economic Disarmament, there is also military Disarmament."

DR. NADOLNY HASTENS HIS RETURN.

London, To-day.

In consequence of the Reichstag meeting on Wednesday, Dr. Nadolny, German delegate at the Disarmament Conference, is leaving for Berlin to-day instead of Monday.

Herr Rosenberg, Chancellor Hitler's personal representative in London, has also decided to return to Berlin to-morrow.—Reuter.

Hitler Calls Reichstag.

DISARMAMENT POLICY TO BE ANNOUNCED.

Berlin, Yesterday.

Chancellor Hitler is expected to define Germany's attitude on Disarmament at the meeting of the Reichstag next Wednesday, called by the Cabinet.

The announcement of the meeting of the Reichstag has created intense interest in political circles, as it is realised that should the Disarmament Conference collapse, Germany may be confronted with a grave decision as to whether she should declare the military stipulations of the Treaty of Versailles null and void "in view of the refusal of other nations to disarm."

The Socialist Deputies will be allowed to attend the Reichstag which is chosen as the scene for the Government statement as attracting more attention than Geneva.

It is understood that Chancellor Hitler will also reply to the speech made in the House of Lords on Thursday by the British Secretary for War, Lord Hailsham, which is regarded as far exceeding any attacks hitherto made, and which has forced the German Government to break her silence.

GERMAN LOAN PAYMENTS

Paper Money Not Gold, To Be Used.

BREACH OF AGREEMENT ALLEGED.

London, Yesterday.

The recent decision of the United States not to pay the interest on Liberty Bonds held abroad has been followed by Germany.

The Finance Minister has informed the Bank of International Settlements that Germany proposes to ignore the gold clause in the Young Loan Agreement by paying the instalment due on May 15, in paper.

A message from Basle states that the Bank of International Settlements has refused to accept the German decision, which it regards as a breach of the Loan Agreement.—Reuter.

FIERCE FIGHTING ON WEST BANK

REINFORCEMENTS SENT BY CHINESE

JAPANESE AIRCRAFT-CARRIER REPORTED AT TIENTSIN

PEKING, YESTERDAY.

UNDER COVER OF AN ARTILLERY BOMBARDMENT THE JAPANESE TROOPS CROSSED THE LUAN HO YESTERDAY BETWEEN LULUNG AND CHIENAN.

Fierce fighting is at present going on on the west bank, while Chinese reinforcements are being rushed up.

Chinese newspapers report the arrival of a large Japanese aircraft-carrier off Taku Bar, Tientsin. The name of the carrier is not known.—Reuter.

Chinese Resist Strongly.

JAPANESE ATTACK REPULSED AT NANTSIENMEN.

Peking, Earlier.

The battle between the Chinese and Japanese forces in the vicinity of Nantienmen is still raging, resulting in heavy casualties on both sides.

Latest news from the front indicates that the Chinese troops late Friday night took up new positions south of Nantienmen where they immediately met with violent Japanese attacks.

The attackers were supported by aeroplanes, artillery and tanks, but an official Chinese communiqué declares that the Japanese were repulsed, leaving many dead and wounded in the field.

The Chinese also suffered heavy losses, but they were able to hold their positions intact.—Reuter.

CHARHAR CEDED TO JAPAN

GENERAL'S URGENT APPEAL.

Canton, Yesterday.

General Feng Yu-hsiang, who is living in retirement at Kalgan, the capital of Charhar Province, sent an urgent appeal to the Central authorities urging them not to withdraw the Provincial troops of Charhar and Sai Yuen southward, as the absence of troops has created considerable panic in northern Charhar.

BRITAIN LEADING IN DAVIS CUP.

Fred Perry Wins In Straight Sets.

London, Yesterday.

Great Britain are leading Finland by one match to nil in their Second Round encounter in the European Zone of the Davis Cup.

Fred Perry, winner of the Hard Courts Championship at Bourne-mouth recently, easily overcame Grotenfelt by scores of 6-0, 6-3, 6-1, in the only singles games played to-day at the Queen's Club, London.

Britain entered the Second Round at the expense of Spain whom she beat 4-1, while Finland eliminated India. Britain's strongest challengers in the top half of the draw are the Italians, who have been weakened by the loss of G. Palmieri, and who are now not expected to beat the Britons.—Reuter.

Nanking Protest On C.E.R.

VIOLATION OF AGREEMENTS ALLEGED.

Nanking, Yesterday.

The Foreign Office is preparing a protest to the Soviet regarding the Chinese Eastern Railway question, which is expected to be cabled to Moscow this evening.

It is believed the protest will reply to M. Litvinoff's recent statements as regards the Chinese Eastern Railway, reiterating the Chinese stand that any change in ownership of the Railway without Chinese constitutes a violation of the Peking of the Peking and Mukden Agreements of 1924.—Reuter.

NANKING INDIGNANT AT C.E.R. SALE

Russia's Offer To Sell Resented.

"MOST DEPLORABLE AND REGRETTABLE"

Nanking, Yesterday.

All shades of opinion in the capital are most indignant at M. Litvinoff's admission that Russia is willing to sell the Chinese Eastern Railway, especially as only two days previously M. Karakhan was reported to have assured Dr. W. W. Yen, Chinese Ambassador to Moscow, that the Soviet had no intention to offer the Railway for sale.

Official quarters say they cannot understand Russia's "change of attitude."

A typical view is that M. Litvinoff's statement, following on the heels of the resumption in Sino-Soviet relations, can only be regarded as "most deplorable and regrettable."—Reuter.

Bonus Marchers Given Permission To Make Official Demonstration

Washington, May 12.

The bonus-seeking army of veterans which was driven from the national capital last year by the United States army under the Republican administration is coming back to make another bid for a cash bonus from congress, this time with the permission of the Democratic administration.

Leaders of the veterans came to an agreement with the White House, whereafter it was announced that the government will permit a six-day demonstration, from May 13 to 18.

MISSING SWEDISH SCIENTIST

Hedin Not Organising Search Party.

DIFFICULTIES CONFRONT ANY EXPEDITION.

(Reuter's Special Service.)

Nanking, Yesterday.

It is authoritatively stated here, that the Foreign Office has not received any request from the 68-year-old Swedish explorer, Sven Hedin, for permission to enter Sinkiang to seek the missing Swedish scientist Nils Ambolt.

Chinese officials are of the opinion that even if the necessary permission were granted, M. Hedin would be unable to proceed to Sinkiang owing to the Mohammedan disturbances there.

M. Nils Ambolt was last heard of in November, 1932, when he arrived at Cherchen, Turkestan, having lost his caravan, instruments and documents representing four years' work.

The scientist intimated in a letter to missionaries at Yarkand that he would try to organise another expedition to retrieve his belongings.

The absence of further news prompted Sven Hedin to attempt to secure permission to lead an expedition in search of the missing man.

SOUTHERN KIANGSI FAMINE RELIEF.

Crisis Surmounted By Generous Helpers.

Canton, Yesterday.

Famine in southern Kiangsi is now under control, large consignments of grains being rushed to the famine area. Owing to adequate relief work directed by the First Army of the First Group Army, rice and grain are coming in from all sides.

Charitable institutions in Hunan also give much help to the famine sufferers. Already 560,000 hu (measure of five pecks) of rice have been imported into southern Kiangsi. Hereafter Kwangtung will provide 600,000 hu of rice to that area every month.—Central Press.

UPROARIOUS SCENES IN THE IRISH DAIL

De Valera Meets Angry Opposition.

"HOUSE SEEMS TO BE TURNING INTO A CIRCUS."

(Reuter's Special Service.)

Dublin, Yesterday.

Uproarious scenes were witnessed in the Irish Dail yesterday, when angry members hurled abuse at each other during the debate preceding the passing of the Budget resolutions, which were adopted by 75 voted to 53.

Unchecked passions were freely displayed at the stage of the proceedings when Mr. Eamon De Valera, President of the Free State, rose to reply to the Opposition criticisms. The President's opening words were drowned by the cries of the incensed members, and the rival factions shouted each other down across the floor of the House.

Opposition Deputies could be heard above the uproar, shouting, "Give us back our markets." Order was restored with great difficulty, one Deputy later remarking that the House "seemed to be turning into a circus."

Mr. W. Cosgrave On Warpath.

"RIDICULOUS EVOLUTIONS OF TOY SOLDIERS"

Dublin.

Some strong remarks were made at the annual convention of his party by Mr. William T. Cosgrave, former President of the Executive Council of the Irish Free State.

Mr. Cosgrave said that the ideal of an all-Ireland republic could not be advanced by "the ridiculous evolutions of toy soldiers" and by "swashbuckling or sabre-rattling." Unity, he declared, would only come through good-will towards their fellow-countrymen of the north.

Mr. Cosgrave also quoted the views, Mr. de Valera, on the difficulty of attaining this ideal and on inability to discover means of ending the partition.—Reuter.

EAST RIVER BANDIT SURRENDERS.

Canton, Yesterday.

Another bandit leader in East River Valley has been removed as a danger to the peaceful people in that district. This gentleman of fortune is Pang Yun-shan, who instead of being killed or captured by Government troops has surrendered to the military authorities and avowed never to molest the people again.—Central Press.

INCREASING ANXIETY FELT FOR GANDHI

May Not Survive His 21-Day Fast.

NOW TOO WEAK TO MOVE.

Mahatma's Decision Is Final and Irrevocable.

(Reuter's Special Service.)

Poona, Yesterday.

Anxiety is growing hourly over the condition of Mahatma Gandhi. Although he is as mentally alert as ever, he is too weak to move without being carried, and cannot even raise his arms to operate the spinning wheel.

Gathered at his side is an anxious group of his most devoted followers, including the brilliant Cambridge-educated poetess and orator, Madame Sarojini Naidu. Gandhi's "fast unto death" last September, which he broke after a week when the agreement ameliorating the position of the "Untouchables" was reached, would have been fatal if protracted a few days longer.

How he can possibly survive the present fast is difficult to see, for he says that his decision to fast for 21 days is final and irrevocable. The Mahatma, who at the commencement of his fast last Monday, was accidentally released from Yeravda gaol, called to the Government of India on May 1, stating that he was fasting for reasons wholly unconnected with the Government and solely connected with the "Untouchability" movement. He had been confined to the gaol for 16 months.

Gandhi is being attended by the well-known Bombay physician, Dr. Deshmukh, who on Tuesday last hastily summoned to Poona the Mahatma's friends in view of the serious condition of his charge.

Gandhi's son, Devadas, is at his father's bedside.

WORLD ECONOMIC CONFERENCE.

(Reuter's Special Service.)

Washington, Yesterday.
The United States delegates to the World Economic Conference, headed by the Secretary of State, Mr. William Cordell Hull, are sailing for England on May 31.

President Roosevelt will probably accompany the delegation, but his participation in the Conference is still uncertain.

NEW PARTY FORMED IN NEW ZEALAND

Preparing For A Grave Crisis.

TENTATIVE POLICY DECIDED

Auckland, New Zealand.

A new political party, the All New Zealand party, has now definitely come into being and a plan of campaign is about to be arranged.

A demand for less Government interference with private enterprise will, it is stated, be one of the main planks of the party programme.

Mr. J. B. Donald, formerly Postmaster-General in the Forbes Cabinet, has taken an active part in the formation of the new organisation.

He has issued a statement explaining that the movement to form a new party, representing all sections of the community, has been on foot since last October, and that a conference early this year gave great promise for the future of the Government.

Members and delegates were of the opinion that a much graver crisis would be experienced in the Dominion shortly as the result of Parliamentary action, and the view was held that the future called for men who would disregard sectional interests and party ties and who would make sacrifices for the country. Such men would be found.

The new party did not propose to enter the dispute between town and country which had recently been given political publicity. Its members held that urban and rural problems should be considered together and a middle course steered toward ultimate solutions.

Mr. Donald also said that it was not composed of disgruntled politicians nor of individuals belonging to an older party. Strong support had been promised from all sections of the community, representing all political faiths.

A foundation of the party's organisation was laid at the recent conference and an agreement was reached on a tentative policy which embraced very clearly a demand for less government interference with private enterprise. The question of leadership was not discussed, as it was contended the time was not yet ripe for such an appointment to be made.

"A further conference will be held in Wellington in the near future," Mr. Donald said. "Questions of policy will then be fixed and a definite plan of campaign arranged." — Reuter.

THRILLING TRIP. FOR YOUTH.

Rescued From Shark-Infested Sea.

London.

An 18-year-old Derbyshire boy, James Miller, has just come home after an adventurous trip on the Blue Funnel liner "Dolius."

He was:—
Washed overboard from the liner near Singapore into a shark-infested sea, carried away by the current and swam about for several hours in the darkness, landed on a desert island devoid of life, plunged again into the sea, and braved the sharks to swim to another island, picked up on the way by a Chinese dhow, persuaded his rescuers to chase the Dolius, taken on board the Dolius just in time to stop the captain of the vessel from sending out the message of his death. — Reuter.

Tenders are invited by the Hong Kong Government, for the construction of a road to the bathing beaches South East of Repulse Bay.

The road will be 30 feet wide from Island Road to the Southern boundary of Repulse Bay Lot No. 200, and from thence 20 feet wide to Ma Kong Bay.

Other tenders invited are for the improvement of Taiipo Market Station (South), and for the erection of a house and servants quarters at Fanling.

TOC H MOVEMENT.

Padre Ford Due In Colony To-day.

The Rev. H. Padre "Bobs" Ford, accompanied by Mr. Harry Chapell, who are touring the Far East in an endeavour to extend the sphere of influence of the Society, are due to arrive in Hong Kong, on their return journey, by the s.s. Talyuan, to-day. They will stay in the Colony only a few days.

A farewell dinner to the two travellers will be given at the Volunteer Headquarters, at 8 p.m. to-morrow. The dinner will be followed at 9.15 p.m. by a meeting, which will be open to all those who will be unable to attend the dinner.

POLICE FORCE INSPECTION.

Governor's Review
On Thursday.

The annual inspection of all ranks of the Hong Kong Police Force by His Excellency the Governor, Sir William Peel, K.C.M.G., K.B.E., will take place on Tuesday afternoon at 3.30 p.m., on the Central Police Station Parade ground.

This will be followed by the presentation of medals and life saving awards won during the year.

BOY BITTEN BY SNAKE.

Dies On Way To Hospital.

Lai Ngan-chai, a five year old Chinese boy, was fatally bitten by a snake while playing at home, near Shaokwan on Friday evening.

His crying brought out his parents, who killed the snake and rushed the boy to the Tung Hwa Hospital, but he died before reaching the hospital dispensary.

The body was taken to the Public Mortuary.

COUNTERFEIT COINS.

Six Months' Gaol For Chinese.

Sentence of six months' hard labour, with the option of a fine of $250, was this morning imposed by Mr. MacLaren, on Tam Mun, an unemployed Chinese male of 26, who pleaded guilty to possession of 346 counterfeit Chinese twenty cent pieces, with intent to utter them.

Sub-Inspector Brett asked his Worship to inflict the maximum penalty, as immigrants were being victimised by hundreds by these carriers, who were evidently employed by a large syndicate. Tam Mun said he bought the coins in Canton.

RUSSIAN WITHOUT A PASSPORT

Came From Manila To Obtain Money.

Sentence of one week's hard labour with the option of a fine of $20, was yesterday imposed by Mr. J. S. MacLaren J.P., at the Central Magistracy, on Boris Limonikoff, a Russian, charged with entering the Colony on May 6 without a passport.

Detective Sergeant Mottram who prosecuted, said the accused arrived in the Colony on the morning of May 6 by the German liner "Trier," and had failed to report his arrival.

He was found yesterday morning at the Trocadero Hotel in Kowloon, and when asked for his passport produced a Chinese note from the Chinese Consul in Manila.

Accused said he had been working in Manila for a number of years, but having recently lost his job there, paid his passage to Hong Kong. He had applied for a passport but was referred to the Chinese Consul in Manila, where he was issued with a Chinese endorsement note.

Mr. MacLaren:—Have you any money?

Accused:—Not much, that is why I came to Hong Kong, to try and get some money from some friends. Det. Sergt. Mottram said it was usual in these cases to impose a small sentence with the option of a fine.

The accused besides being fined, was ordered to the House of Detention pending his deportation from the Colony.

COUNCIL MEETS IN HAUNTED HOUSE.

Committee Flee On Hearing Moanings.

Prague.

When the Commissioner of Police in the town of Dvur Kralove was awakened one night recently by ghostly knocking on his bedroom walls, he thought it was a matter for the Town Council to investigate.

So the Town Council appointed a committee of 12 to keep watch in the "haunted house." The committee stayed through the night but were too frightened to solve the mystery.

So another committee of 15 was appointed to carry on the investigation.

They arrived at the house at 11 o'clock at night and stayed long enough for the rappings and moanings of the ghost. Then they fled, falling into the arms of a crowd that was waiting outside for the verdict.

It is reported that a woman was at one time murdered in the house by her husband, and his spirit is bound to the scene of his crime. — Reuter.

Aeroplanes played a vital part in the rescue of a thousand fishermen who had been carried away on a giant icefloe in the Caspian Sea during a violent storm.

New Colours And Designs Washing Winter Woollies

Many Checks For Day Wear.

GREY TO BE POPULAR

AMONG the colours for early summer will be grey and a subtle combination of grey and beige. In these shades will appear woollen coats and suits, and dresses for sports and more formal wear, silk afternoon dresses, and evening chiffons. Bright colours will make additions to these neutral shades, but light and dark grey in two or more tones will look neater.

Dark grey woollen coats, long, three-quarter, or hip length, will be worn over dresses or smoothly fitting skirts of lighter shades. Shoes, gloves, and handbags will be either dark or light. Grey will also be relieved with black or brown, and with navy blue of the new purple shade. A navy blouse worn with skirt and short coat of grey will match the lining and reverse of the coat.

In some bright touches of colour will also be seen with black and navy for the spring.

Pastel Shades.

Less practical but more becoming will be dusty pastel shades of pink, ashes of roses, powder blue, and pink beige. In these colours afternoon frocks and informal dinner dresses of soft wool, jersey, and heavier silk look well. Two contrasting pastel colours may go together, or two tones of the same shade. There will be much red of a yellowish hue, and also salmon, coral pink, and a bright mandarin yellow. White and off-white remain; the afternoon dress of a soft white woollen or crepe has been a novelty this winter.

For day-time there will be checks of all types from the small gun-slab checks, which have three blending colours, to large designs of softer outline. Neat little suits of the smaller checks have shirts of solid colour in a darker shade; three-quarter coats in the larger checks are worn with dresses or skirts in solid colour, or a sports skirt of bold plaid design has a jacket of main colour cut on conventional coat lines. The plain black or dark coloured afternoon frock of thin wool or crepe will be relieved with touches of pastel colour on the sash, scarf, or collar, while belts of gold braid look well on dresses of dark or neutral colours.

Printed silks are certain to remain. The designs will be small and conventional, with stripes, dots, and geometrical patterns of two colours or of one colour with black. For the evening there will be some large floral designs or small scattered bunches on dark grounds. Black shows signs of returning, but chalky pastel shades of plaster white, cyclamen, and smoke-grey will be entirely new.

Light Colours In Linen

High Necklines And Plain Sleeves.

LIGHT coloured linen suits are an outstanding note in the collection. A light blue linen suit having a hip-length jacket is worn with a short sleeved blouse of dark blue linen which buttons to the skirt. A beige linen suit of similar design appears with another short sleeved blouse of crepe printed in splashes of red, green, white and blue.

Coat dresses, designed along simple lines with high necklines and plain sleeves, appear in varied fabrics ranging from wool to shantung. One gray wool coat dress, overlapping and button on an irregular line is topped with a scarf of black, white and periwinkle blue wool, while another of heavy pink shantung is finished with a fuchsia scarf of beige and brown striped velvet ribbon.

Care of Clothes To Be Packed Away.

WINTER woollies should, as every housewife knows, be cleaned before storing away for the summer. Dry cleaning is not a big item in Hong Kong, but where there are several in the family, and woollen jumper suits and knitted dresses have been worn extensively, it is possible for quite a big dry cleaner's bill to accumulate.

Even coloured woollens may be safely washed at home if due precaution is taken.

A good method is to prepare the washing water by dissolving a little borax in it first, and then making a soapy lather with good castile soap, or soap flakes if those are proved and preferred.

Squeeze and knead the garments in the usual way paying special attention to soiled parts.

Take out, squeeze and inspect to see that all is clean. Then rinse in lukewarm water that is slightly soapy. Wring as dry as possible and shake well. Place the garments in shape and place on a flat surface to dry. Continue from time to time to shake well, always pulling into shape afterwards. Iron with a coolish iron on the wrong side, air, and pack.

EVENING WRAPS THAT ARE NEW

Made Of 'Wedding' Satin—All-White Ensembles.

WHITE is always a favourite note for summer evening gowns, and it will achieve a background for varied evening wrap lines during the season. Redfern designs an all-white evening ensemble which makes one realise how the slimmer skirts enhance the value of bolero jackets in the same white fabric.

This short jacket, which can be wrapped gracefully round the figure, has wide short sleeves to broaden the top outline. These, with long scarf ends bordered by black monkey fringe, effect a most becoming evening silhouette.

Slender skirts make for elegant simplicity in white satin cloy trimmed simply with a gold belt, a split opening at one side of the skirt lending ease in movement. The slightest "en forme" cut is another graceful line for a white crepe satin tailored gown with a high front and low back decollete.

Evening Bolero.

This type of evening bolero has a "grande soiree" quality, but there are others with a less important air for less important occasions, in wide open patterned laces of black or white re-embroidered with diamante. Bolero jackets will no doubt serve as a happy inspiration to disguise full open decolletes for simple dinner parties at home. This also applies to a new lace capelet for lace gowns.

A most ingenious model is made from a circle of lace with a large open round cut in the centre. When the head is passed through this round, the top of the circle hangs like a short capelet and the lower part is drawn round the hips in the manner of a jacket.

WAISTLINE LOWERED

THE waistline is slightly lowered in most of the summer models, being placed at a point an inch or two below the natural line. Bodices are generally simple in effect, while skirts, with hemlines about ten inches from the ground, are slightly fuller.

The Semi-Formal Dress

For Informal Dinner And Dancing.

Novel Trimmings For Summer

Cotton Widely Used For Sports' Wear.

NOVEL knick-knacks of leather, nickel and cotton rope are used as trims for the new summer street and sports clothes launched by Vera Bore.

A black wool street frock has as its only trim a round collar and belt of white leather cut and tooled to resemble a feather. Wide nickel buttonholes fasten suits and coats, and nickel chains support the decollete of evening gowns, while white cotton ropes tipped with coloured wooden discs appear as belts on cotton sports clothes.

Cotton is widely used for sports suits, frocks and summer evening frocks, while linen also plays an important role.

Afternoon Frocks For Street

Trailing Skirts Barred.

AFTERNOON costumes should be of softer materials, a little more "dressy," a little less practical. The coats worn with these frocks will be handsomely trimmed with fur.

But they will still be definitely daytime costumes, of street length, and of a character that would be fitting for street wear.

For even though you may travel by taxi or your own car, there is a sort of unwritten law that says that afternoon clothes must also be suitable for wear on the street. That bars out trailing skirts, and such absurdities.

FINE DIVIDENDS RECORDED AT VALLEY: SOUTH CHINA DEFEATED

RECORD SHATTERED AT "Y" GALA

A. Donn Covers 50 Yards In 26 Secs.
RASMUSSEN'S TEAM WINS 200 RELAY.

Volunteers' Polo Triumph.

A very successful aquatic carnival and dance marked the official opening of the Y.M.C.A. 1933 Swimming Season, when a good attendance was present at the "Y" pool last night to witness the aquatic events.

One outstanding performance marked the opening of the programme, A. Donn, who started scratch man in his heat in the 50 Yards Aggregate Handicap, and who conceded 9 seconds to L. E. Morgan, won his heat comfortably, clocking 26 seconds to establish a "Y" record for this distance.

The Ladies' race proved very thrilling, and, despite the rigorous handicapping, the ultimate result was very close.

Mrs. Schreuder, wife of W. Schreuder, captain of the "Y's" first water-polo team, put up a magnificent effort, and, although beaten out of a place, was given a great ovation. She swam a very fast race, and, after giving away 23 seconds for two lengths was beaten by only three yards. Miss D. Hunt, the well-known Harbour swimmer who went in at 18 just secured into third place, beating Mrs. Schreuder by a touch.

Diving Exhibitions.

An exhibition of diving was given by Messrs. L. Morrison, L. E. Morgan, W. Parkinson, and R. Goldman.

All showed promise, especially the former, who brought off several good displays of the "Flying Dutchman" and "Islanders" which brought all-round applause.

Parkinson executed a very good "Islander" and full somersault.

The Novelty race provided great amusement, many of the swimmers experiencing difficulty in changing their clothes in the water. Several collisions added to the fun and the result was a very narrow win for Ingram.

The Relay race proved quite exciting, Goldman's team taking the lead in the first length through Aris, who swam splendidly to secure a lead of about five yards for M. Critchley, who also swam well to increase it.

A misunderstanding on the part of Bailton, however, lost the lead and Rasmussen finished a couple of yards ahead of Donn, while Goldman finished third. It was an explicable failure to make use of an early advantage.

A very good game of water-polo was seen when the Volunteers defeated the Rest of the Y. M. C. A. by 5 goals to 2 after a very hard and fast game.

Schreuder, the "Y" captain again played an outstanding game, and was responsible for all the five Volunteer goals, scoring once in the first half and four times in the second.

The Rest attacked in the deep end in the first half, and a back-hand pass by Campbell to Rasmussen saw the latter score past the advancing Angus.

In the third minute of this half a swim through by Bailton, who was unmarked, saw the Rest take a two goals lead.

Just before the interval, Schreuder reduced the score when he neatly deflected a long pass by Henry, Webb in the Rest's goal being deceived by the flight of the ball.

Schreuder Scores Four.

Changing over, the Rest, who were defending the deep end, were given many anxious moments by Schreuder and Kerr. The Rest's defence, however, played splendidly, in spite of several good passes by Fowler to both Schreuder and Kerr.

Schreuder, however, levelled the scores when he once again deflected a pass from Henry. A minute later he scored another, swimming to the corner to roll over and net from almost point-blank range.

The Rest tried hard to score in the shallow end, but Goldman, who was down with cramp for most of the half, disorganised the forward line. Bailton was caught on several occasions jumping off the bottom and thereby lost several good scoring opportunities.

MR. FISCHER'S $87.30 ON STICKYPAST

MR. HEARD AGAIN LEADING JOCKEY

BRILLIANT RIDING BY MR. BUTLER

SUBSTANTIAL DIVIDENDS FEATURED THE SIXTH ANNUAL RACE MEETING AT THE VALLEY YESTERDAY, STICKYPAST, WITH $87.30, HEADING THE LIST OF ELEVEN PONIES WHICH PAID OVER 5 TO 1 ODDS.

MR. W. G. FISCHER HAD THE SATISFACTION OF PAYING OUT DIVIDENDS OF $87.30 AND $65.80 ON STICKYPAST AND KRATA VIZ, WHILE THE GADWALL (MR. J. W. HOPE) PAID $67.20.

The best riding of the afternoon was witnessed when Mr. E. O. Butler won the Fotaumun Handicap on Devon from Imperial Hall. He achieved in the last twenty yards what appeared to be an impossibility, and his ride was probably the best yet seen this season.

Portia, with Mr. "Johnny" Heard up, fulfilled expectations when she won the Australian race in record time. Mr. Heard, who secured three wins and four seconds in seven starts, again proved to be the champion jockey. He now leads Mr. Frost by four wins.

From the middle of the half to the end Volunteers had everything practically their own way, Schreuder adding another two goals in excellent manner to give his side a win by three clear goals.

Mr. E. F. Selk refereed and lined up the following:

Volunteers:—H. Angus; W. Stoker and J. Henry; A. Donn; G. Fowler, W. Schreuder and W. Kerr.

The Rest:—W. Webb; D. Sutherland and H. Lange; E. W. Bailton; R. Goldman; B. Rasmussen and W. Campbell.

Messrs. A. F. Jenkins and A. W. Torrible officiated as goal-scissors while D. Harvey assumed the role of timekeeper.

The aggregate event trophy has been kindly presented by the Acting Chief Justice, Mr. Justice J. R. Wood. One point is awarded to the winner of each heat and half a point to the runner-up.

After the aquatic events had been completed, over 200 people danced to the strains of Mickey's Melody Makers until 12.30 a.m. when God Save The King completed a most enjoyable evening.

In a day of upsets only three favourites recorded wins—Warrington, The Panther and Portia. Jungle Jim and Royal Flush were placed, but Don, National Day, Toby and Adam all failed to secure places.

Mr. "Benny" Proulx again enjoyed a successful afternoon, registering two wins, a second, and two thirds in seven starts.

He rode Lady Peel's Lucy Glitters into second place in the Victoria Park Handicap, only two lengths separating his mount from the record-equalling Portia. He has succeeded Mr. D. Black, who is at present on home leave, as Lady Peel's jockey.

The Novices race attracted 19 starters, but Adam, the favourite, was badly left at the starting gate thus enabling Mr. Yue Shun Wa to record a win on Orlando. This race provided dividends of $34.70, $16.10, $87.30 and $67.20.

ATHLETIC WIN OVER RECREIO

SOUTH CHINA, favourites for the Senior League Soccer Championship received a severe setback yesterday when the depleted Royal Navy team registered a sensational triumph at Caroline Hill by 3 goals to 1.

South China must now beat St. Joseph's if they are to deprive the Royal Artillery of the leadership they have held for the past four months.

In the only other premier league game yesterday, the Chinese Athletic, who have yet to play four matches, easily overcame the Recreio, this year's wooden-spoonists. The game between the Club and St. Joseph's was abandoned owing to the Saints being unable to field a full team. It is understood that the Club have been awarded the points.

Craigengower Fail To Win "Double"

Police Surprise K.C.C.

DRAKE'S RINK RECORDS AN EIGHT

CRAIGENGOWER, dual Lawn Bowls champions, were thwarted in their efforts to record the "double" yesterday against the Recreio.

The premier team won by 13 shots, but the junior team lost surprisingly by 5 shots.

The Police Recreation Club, who sensationally beat Craigengower last week, followed up their success by a splendid triumph on the K.C.C. green yesterday.

The Police Recreation Club, Kowloon Bowling Green, the Kowloon Cricket Club juniors and the Yacht Club are now the only teams with 100 per cent. records.

Sensational bowling was witnessed at Happy Valley where one of the Bowling Green rinks recorded an eight!

W. S. Drake's rink registered an 8 on the fourth head to take a 13-1 lead from A. E. Corey's rink which they held to win by 27-19.

Adam Holland's rink is the senior Bowling Green game recorded a 6 against Neil Drummond's rink and won by 28-17. H. Nish's rink achieved the same feat to beat W. Walr's rink by 87 to 6—the highest win of the season. A six by G. C. Moss's rink enabled the Police rink to beat H. Over's K.C.C. rink by 19-16, while W. V. Field, of Craigengower, had HUNG ENTERS SEMI-FINAL AT THE K.C.C.

Probable Opponent For Guest In Final.

MRS. McCRAW RETIRES ILL.

W. C. Hung, conqueror of Teddy Fincher, entered the Semi-Final Round of the K.C.C. "A" Handicap Singles yesterday when he eliminated Ernie Fincher by scores of 6-4, 6-1. He was giving away 15 every other game.

Favoured to reach the Final Round Willie Hung will meet either R. B. Hamby or G. C. Burnett, both of whom are playing at —3.6.

A. E. P. Guest, favoured to reach the final round in the top half, easily overcame C. I. Stapleton, while N. A. E. Mackay beat G. A. White, who eliminated S. A. Gray, in a surprisingly easy manner. The winners will meet in the semi-final.

Mrs. McCraw, who was 6-2 down to Miss O. Dalziel, rallied splendidly to level the scores at 5-all, but the effort proved too much for her and she was forced to retire from the match. It is understood that she was not very well, and as a consequence she has given Miss Dalziel a walk-over in the Handicap event, and Miss M. Griffiths a walk over into the Third Round of the Ladies' Championship.

Having overcome her most dangerous obstacle Miss Griffiths is now a hot favourite for the title.

At the conclusion of the various events, Fr. Horace de Angelis, in a brief speech said:

"It is my pleasure to be able to attend, for the first time, the Athletic meeting of the Sacred Heart College."
"The cult of sport is, indeed, as wide as the world. Every youth aspires to become an athlete, and for this he is not to be blamed at all.
Sport, well understood and properly directed, is a vital source of vigorous strength, and helps physical development. The blood moves quickly in its chambers, while all the activities are accentuated. Sport makes the youth feel the thrilling sensation of expansion, and the presence of new powers and unlimited capacities. Sport displays infinite horizons to the youthful mind, and keeps the body fit and sound, and teaches skill, according to the old Latin adage: "mens sana in corpore sano" (sound mind in sound body)."

Dr. Tang Speaks.
Dr. Y. Y. Tang, before presenting the trophies, said:

"It is a great pleasure for me that I am able to come this afternoon to distribute the prizes. I have witnessed some very fine sport indeed, and I must say all the events have been very keenly contested. I must congratulate the Headmaster and the sports committee for the fine organization, and the boys for such a fine performance."

It must not be forgotten the Sacred Heart College has in the past produced many sport-men of outstanding reputation.
Many of the leading Athletic Associations of Hong Kong and South China possess
among their distinguished sportsmen members many old Sacred Heart boys. I am convinced that among the boys present to-day there are many future champions of international reputation.

To the boys I should like to say, — whether you win or you lose, you have always gained. You have gained in health, and health is the greatest asset one can possess in this world.
As for the parents I sincerely advise them to give to the young every facility for outdoor sports. They will save a lot of worry and expense later on.

Before I conclude, I sincerely congratulate the winners and offer my sympathies to the losers and hope that the latter will have better luck next time.

FOOTBALL

Santos went close with a good header, and the Recreio reduced the lead through Delgado, who headed through from a well-placed corner kick by Castilho.

Tang hit the crossbar and near the end Gutierrez hesitated when clearing and Tang scored the fourth goal.

The referee had to caution players on several occasions owing to the bad feeling which crept into the game.

South China Are Defeated.

NAVY CAUSE SENSATION
BY 3-1 WIN.

Lau Mau Causes Penalty.

At Caroline Hill yesterday
the Navy gained a surprising victory over South China, triumphing by 3 goals to 1.

From the start the Navy showed up very well. Their methods were direct and business-like, and they were very soon on the offensive. Purkins and Reed were very sound in their tackling and distribution of the ball. Reed, especially being outstanding, the Naval pivot was the main cause for the Naval victory.

After cleverly taking the ball well
up into the South China goal area, Emsworth, the Naval centre forward, was preparing to pass when Lau Mau unfairly tackled him. The referee showed no hesitation in awarding a penalty. Emsworth giving the Navy an early lead with an unstoppable shot. A few minutes afterwards, Emsworth nearly added to the score, when from Bar-nett's centre, he back-headed the ball, but Lim Thin Chan cleared well.

South China Equalise.

South China, however, soon
equalised. A high shot by Leung Tat Wing was saved by Sinden at the expense of a corner. The place kick was a poor effort and was cleared to the right wing, for Leung In Chan to return it back into the centre where Leung Tat Wing got his head to the ball, which bounced and passed over the head of Sinden. If the Chinese forward meant to head the ball as he did, then it was a brilliant goal, but it appeared to be a very fortunate effort.

Kam Cheung Lam had a glorious opportunity of giving South China the lead, but his tremendous drive was yards wide of goal.

In the first minutes of the second half South China were unlucky not to take the lead, Leung Tat Wing striking the cross bar with a good shot with Sinden well beaten. The ball rebounded into play, and a number of attempts were made to head a goal before the ball was finally cleared. Sinden was called on to save several good shots during the first quarter of the second half, but he dealt with all confidently, and was never seriously troubled.

Reed had the South China forwards absolutely bottled up, and repeatedly took the ball away from their toes. His one fault was trying to dribble a little too much—a game which does not pay against the wily Chinese players.

Navy Go Ahead.

The Navy forced a corner on the right, and the place kick was cleared to Purkins, who, after beating an opponent, sent over a perfect centre,
for Sayer to head past Lim Thin Chan.

The pace of the game, which started very fast, never slackened, and the Navy were holding their own territorially, and were having the best of the exchanges.

Goose, obtaining possession, ran out to the wing and centred. The ball came over high and appeared to be going in the net and Lim Thin
Chan was forced to push it out to Barnett, who made no mistake, placing the ball well out of the reach of the goalkeeper.

In the closing minutes Sinden had to save a hot shot from Ng Po Kul.
Navy:—Sinden, Buchanan, Reeves,
Purkins, Reed, Ratcliffe, Barnett,
Usher, Emsworth, Goose and Sayer.
South China:—Lim Thin Chan, Lau
Mau, Li Tin-sung, Leung In-chun,
Leung Wing-chui, Li Kwok-wai, Cheng
Shui-hong, Kam Cheung-lam, Fung
King-cheong, Leung Tat-wing and Ng
Po-kul.

BRIDGE NOTES

Duplicate Contract Play.

The hand from Duplicate Contract play which is given below has several points of interest and instruction. It is not a manufactured hand, but was dealt in the ordinary way at the table.

Spades 7, 6
Hearts A, K, Q, 5.
Diamonds A, 6.
Clubs J, 10, 9, 8, 7.

Spades A, J, 9, 2.
Hearts J, 10, 9, 8, 4.
Diamonds 5.
Clubs Q, 4, 2.

Spades B, 10, 5.
Hearts K, 3, 2.
Diamonds Q, J, 9, 4.
Clubs 6, 5, 3.

Spades Z, A, 8, 4, 3.
Hearts 6.
Diamonds K, 10, 8, 7, 3, 2.
Clubs A, K.

Score game all, love all. The Bidding at one table was:—Z One Diamond; A No Bid; Y One Heart; B No Bid; Z Three No Trumps. All pass. This was bold bidding on the part of Z when vulnerable.

At the second table the bidding went Z One Diamond; A No Bid; Y Two Hearts; B No Bid; Z Three No Trumps. It will be noticed that in this case Y makes a forcing bid of Two Hearts on the minimum of three and a half quick tricks, reckoning A K Q as worth two and a half. After that Z's bid of Three No Trumps is correct.

At both tables A opened with the Jack of Hearts. This was the obvious lead from a sequence and a suit of six, and seemed likely to be the best and the least harmful. On the surface the making of game and contract may appear easy enough. There are eight sure tricks in eight, three in Hearts, two in Diamonds, two in Clubs, and one in Spades, and the development of the necessary ninth trick appears likely in Diamonds.

At table No. 1 Z, apparently, did not realize any danger and played with great confidence. Taking the first trick with the Queen of Hearts he led Clubs, possibly expecting the Queen of the suit to fall. But it did not and indeed it was an unlikely contingency. He then put Dummy in with the Ace of Diamonds, led King of Hearts, and discarded the 3 of Spades. Next he led 6 of Diamonds. B played the Jack and Z won with the King. A discarding 9 of Spades.

Z was now not nearly so happy. He decided to lead the 8 of Diamonds. It did not matter whether he led the 10 or 8, as B held the tenace. A surrendered a Heart and B won with the Jack. B then led King of Spades, on which Z played his 4. B continued with the 10, and Z won with the Ace. He could now lead only a Spade or a Diamond. He decided on the Spade. A took it with the Queen, led a Heart, putting Dummy in, and saved the game. A and B making two Spades, a Heart, a Diamond, and a Club.

Now, doubtless the ingenious reader can see how Z could have done better, and will point out that Z's fatal mistake was leading out his Clubs when he could not establish them without the loss of his entry of Ace of Diamonds in Dummy. If he had gone straight for Diamonds could he not make a certainty of establishing them?

The answer is that, with sound play on the part of A and B, he will find it difficult not to allow them to make three tricks in Spades and two in Diamonds, or alternatively two in Spades, two in Diamonds, and one in Hearts or Clubs.

But there is a way of making a certainty of game, and this was realized by the particular Z at the second table. After the initial lead of Knave of Hearts and exposure of Dummy, he took a little time for thought—which every Dealer should do, for it is then that he should plan his method of campaign.

He won the first trick with the Queen, and then led out Dummy's Ace and King of Hearts and discarded on them his own Ace and King of Clubs. By leading then the Knave of Clubs and discarding a small Diamond he made sure of four tricks in Clubs, while Dummy held the Ace of Diamonds as entry.

A won with the Queen of Clubs and made his two winning Hearts.

but Z won the game, and an over-trick. By his line of play he could have been defeated only if A held seven Hearts and the Queen of Clubs. But this was unlikely, and the lead of a Heart at trick two assured Z that this was not the case. Even if A had held six Hearts Z was still the winner of the game.

Although getting rid of Aces and Kings is a commonplace in Double Dummy problems, it is rarely done at the card table. In this hand Z realized that Diamonds might not clear, and that he might be put into an awkward position over Spades.

He saw that Clubs must clear with the loss of one trick in them, and that the suit therefore offered the best chance of game—in fact a certainty, provided A had not seven Hearts.

Few players, however, would work this out quickly in actual play, and Z should be given every credit for his foresight.

War Debts.

THE continual postponement of the war debts issue, and the reticence of the leading statesmen on the subject has created uneasiness, particularly in Britain where a considerable section of the community are apprehensive that Britain is once again to be committed to a sacrifice—a sacrifice which would inevitably fall on the taxpayer. This ever recurring problem formed only an incidental topic of discussion at the Washington conversations between the British Premier, Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, and President Roosevelt, and since then the topic has been alluded to as infrequently as possible. It is significant, and not altogether reassuring, that President Roosevelt in his broadcast review of policy during the week was silent on the matter. Mr. MacDonald has been extremely evasive, and even when he reported to the House of Commons on his Washington visit, he was delightfully vague. There was complete unanimity of opinion, said the Premier, that the International Economic Conference could not be fully successful unless the debt difficulty has been removed. "The settlement I am thinking of—a final settlement—is going to take a little time. I do not mean by that a longish time, but I mean it literally. It is going to take just a little time. There are so many issues involved and so many awkward relationships to be dealt with in a complete and final settlement." The Premier added that it was never contemplated that War debts should come before the Economic Conference. Mr. MacDonald's last statement is astounding, and is irreconcilable with earlier statements by the Chancellor of the Exchequer, who was quoted a few months ago as saying that Britain would not meet any further war debt instalments until a settlement was achieved. It was pointed out in the British Notes at the end of last year that the December payment of £29,000,000 was made to enable a respite in which negotiations were to proceed for a final settlement before the next instalment became due in June. Many nations, notably France, refused to pay even the December instalment. The Premier's visit to Washington was originally intended solely to enable a presentation of the British view on war debts. Subsequent events have been unsatisfactory, and the Premier is forced to the admission that June 15 "is going to be an awkward hurdle." It may be extremely awkward if the United States Senate insists on the instalment being paid on that date. No provision is made in the British Budget for such an emergency and, if another call is made, whatever hopes exist for an alleviation of the terrible burden of taxation will be completely dissipated, for the near future at least. British industry is being retarded under the present crippling taxation and the demand for relief is universal and insistent. If Mr. MacDonald had even hinted at that an understanding had been reached with President Roosevelt the position would not be so intolerable, but, with Mr. Baldwin's disastrous settlement of 1923 still fresh in the minds of the British taxpayer, considerable perturbation is felt. The general view has been that the prospects for the World Economic Conference would be prejudiced unless the war debt problem had been disposed of before the Conference opened, and it is difficult to accept with complacency the Premier's statement that the debt negotiations will have to go on concurrently and on parallel lines.

The French attitude on the question is much more definite, and it is probable that France will default again in June unless a more satisfactory position is reached. The consequences at the Economic Conference would be most unfortunate, while it is possible that the Lausanne Agreement would not be ratified. Thus there exists the danger that the results, meagre as they have been, of the whole series of international conferences of the past year would be undone and of the international situation reverting to that prevailing a year ago. President Roosevelt has indicated that he appreciates the difficulties of the debtor nations and that he would be prepared to negotiate for a reasonable settlement. Unfortunately, he is handicapped by opposition in Congress, which is opposed even to a moratorium for the duration of the Economic Conference. It is now realized in the United States that full payment cannot be expected and America has shown that she is prepared to bargain, her demands being both political and economic. As long as the concessions demanded in return for a scaling down of the war debts are within reasonable limits, an adjustment could be accomplished. But it is imperative that the issue be settled immediately.

AN AFRICAN CIVIL SERVICE URGED.

Control Of Tropical Dependencies.

N. RHODESIA REPORT.

Livingstone (N. Rhodesia). The necessity of building up an African Civil Service in those tropical dependencies which have small white populations, was urged by the Colonial Secretary during a comprehensive survey of the administration and finances of Northern Rhodesia in the Legislative Council. He added, however, that in the past Civil Service posts had been given to natives too easily, with the result that the European officers had to try and educate these natives themselves. He suggested that in future the natives should be required to remain at school until they were better fitted for employment. The Colonial Secretary made a sympathetic reference to the hardship imposed upon officers whose careers in the Administration have come to an end, and later spoke of the undesirability of destroying confidence in the Colonial Office Service as a career.

Customs revenue yielded only £144,391, whereas the estimated total was £301,326.

Incomes from trade substantially decreased, no taxes being received from the mining industry. Economies effected included a reduction of the civil service establishment posts from 680 to 578.

After referring to the need for a new Customs agreement with Southern Rhodesia, the Colonial Secretary pointed out that Southern Rhodesia only took £16 worth of Northern Rhodesia tobacco last year, but distributed £80,000 worth of cigarettes and pipe tobacco into Northern Rhodesia.

Energetic measures had been taken to defend the borders against the intrusion of foot-and-mouth disease. Incidentally these measures would adversely affect the revenue.—Reuter.

OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

Unmusical Poet.

It is difficult to realize that Mr. Laurence Binyon has been forty years an official at the British Museum, from which he is retiring in order to take up the Professorship of Poetry at Harvard. He looks hardly more than five and forty, though he is, in fact, well over sixty.

Mr. Binyon is one of those curious instances of a man more than ordinarily sensitive, as a poet, to the music of words, who is at the same time utterly indifferent to music itself. This was the case with Tennyson, Browning, and Swinburne. "The only music I like," Mr. Binyon once said, "is bad music. Classical and other 'good' music make no appeal to me whatever."

The Last Portrait.

Mr. Philip De Laszlo was engaged on a portrait of the late Miss Anna Ahlers. She must have made a striking subject, for she was the most vivid of the many beautiful women who have sat to this artist.

Mr. de Laszlo is at present abroad, but from his studio I was told to-day that, fortunately, the portrait is almost finished, and not more than two or three further sittings would have been required. The face has been painted completely, but some more work has to be put in on the dress and the background.

Link With Nelson.

The death of Vice-Admiral Norcock at the age of eight-six removes one of the very few remaining links with Nelson, though not, of course, a direct one. For when he first entered the Navy he served under officers who had served under the victor of Trafalgar—a claim which the late Lord Fisher could also make.

To the end the admiral took a close interest in the R. N. V. R., which he was largely instrumental in founding; almost his last act was to write inquiring after the health of a popular R. N. V. R. officer who had just undergone a serious operation.

He was one of the famous "Tug" Wilson's closest friends. H. M. S. President, the official "home" and drill-ship of the R. N. V. R., is, by the way, shortly to be towed away from Blackfriars for overhauling and repairs. I trust without the mishap which attended one of her previous voyages.

Growth of the L. C. C.

Sir Montagu Cox, whose coming retirement from the position of clerk to the London County Council is reported, joined that authority in a junior capacity when it was only four years old.

Consequently, during his long association with the administration of London, Sir Montagu has been intimately connected with the vast development in the importance of the body.

Ratepayers will read with a peculiar interest that while, in 1892, the county rate was but 11½d in the pound, in the current year it is 6s 6½d. Moreover, in that year the total amount required to be raised was only £1,581,898. To-day it is £19,404,458.

New American Ambassador.

Mr. Robert Worth Bingham, the new American Ambassador to the Court of St. James's, has spent most of his life in journalism. The "Louisville Courier-Journal," of which he is the proprietor, has a long-standing literary tradition. Many popular American writers, including Irvin Cobb, have graduated from its offices.

Mr. Bingham has been married three times. He is a man of many hobbies and outdoor pastimes, a yachtsman, and a first-class shot.

Regimental March Songs.

Nothing is calculated better to preserve the territorial association of regiments than their marching songs, and the more closely these suggest the customs of the county, the better.

I find it strange that the Leicester should only just have received War Office permission to change their regimental march to Cross.

one of hunting flavour ("We'll all go a-hunting to-day"). The Warwickshire regiment may now grow jealous, for "John Peel" is already the property of the Border regiment, though to march to it, unless it is played at half the normal pace, must be difficult.

That the First Regiment of Footguards should use "The British Grenadiers" is only natural; but it seems unnatural in the extreme that the Artists' Rifles should march to a sea-song—"They all love Jack." The explanation of this is that its composer, Stephen Adams, was once an "Artist."

St. Mary-le-Strand. "The most beautiful Renaissance church for its size in existence." This considered opinion of St. Mary-le-Strand Church, the tower of which is at present undergoing a "preventive and precautionary" survey, was given me by Mr. Sidney Toy, the consulting architect, who is directing the work. Mr. Toy's first admiration for the church was considerably strengthened by a minute examination of the structure because of the wonderful way in which the inside architectural orders correspond, despite essential differences, with those of the outside.

St. Mary-le-Strand was built by James Gibbs between 1714 and 1717, but was not consecrated until January 1, 1723. James Gibbs was also responsible for the tower of St. Clement Danes church near by. The base of this tower is mediaeval. The body of the church was built by Wren.

Horace Walpole's "Twin Wife". A fine tribute to the Prince Consort was seen at Sotheby's recent sale.

In a letter, written in 1840, by that chatterbox Mary Berry, whom Horace Walpole at the age of 70 used to call his "Suavisissima Moria" and his "Twin-Wife"—her sister was the other—she says: "The Queen (in spite of attempts to depopularise her) is so happy with her Albert."

"Everybody agrees in admiration of his beauty, and of his gracious, civil, quietly-dignified manner." In the beginning of her letter she states that the "House of Commons is out of fashion. It is quite otherwise with the Court." The letter, failed to fetch more than fifty shillings, with three volumes of Mary Berry's "Journals" thrown in.

The Crown Jewellers.

The daring thieves who made the successful smash-and-grab raid on the Bond-street premises of the Crown Jewellers, Messrs. Garrards, were certainly flying high. For the firm has the monopoly in all matters affecting the Crown Jewels.

For the Royal opening of Parliament or for similar State occasions it is the duty of the Crown Jewellers to fetch the regalia from the Tower, make any adjustments and refurbishings that may be necessary, and then despatch it to the Palace.

How the regalia is conveyed from the Tower it is not expedient to reveal. Whereas, however, in America the transference of such valuable property would be accompanied by not less than a company of armoured cars and a section of two of tanks, one may be sure that in this country it is carried out with proper English lack of ostentation.

Iron Cross at the Cenotaph.

The newly appointed German Military and Naval Attachés at the Embassy in London (Col. Freiherr Geyr von Schweppenburg and Kapitan zur See Erwin Wassner) recently laid a wreath on the Cenotaph as a tribute on behalf of the German Army and Navy to members of the British Forces who lost their lives in the Great War.

The Attachés are the first to have been appointed since 1914, and this is Germany's first official service tribute since the war. It was incorporated in the wreath of laurels was a representation of the Iron Cross.

How Lactogen Standards are Maintained

Fat and Protein Content Tests

Since the degradation of the poly(L-lactide) polymer by the organotin compounds depends on the degree of modification of the fat and the organotin compound, it is generally consistent.

Systematic tests are made with the reconstituted products of the Lactogen Laboratories, to ensure that the homogenisation of the fat and the flocculency of the curd equals that of the approved Lactogen standard.

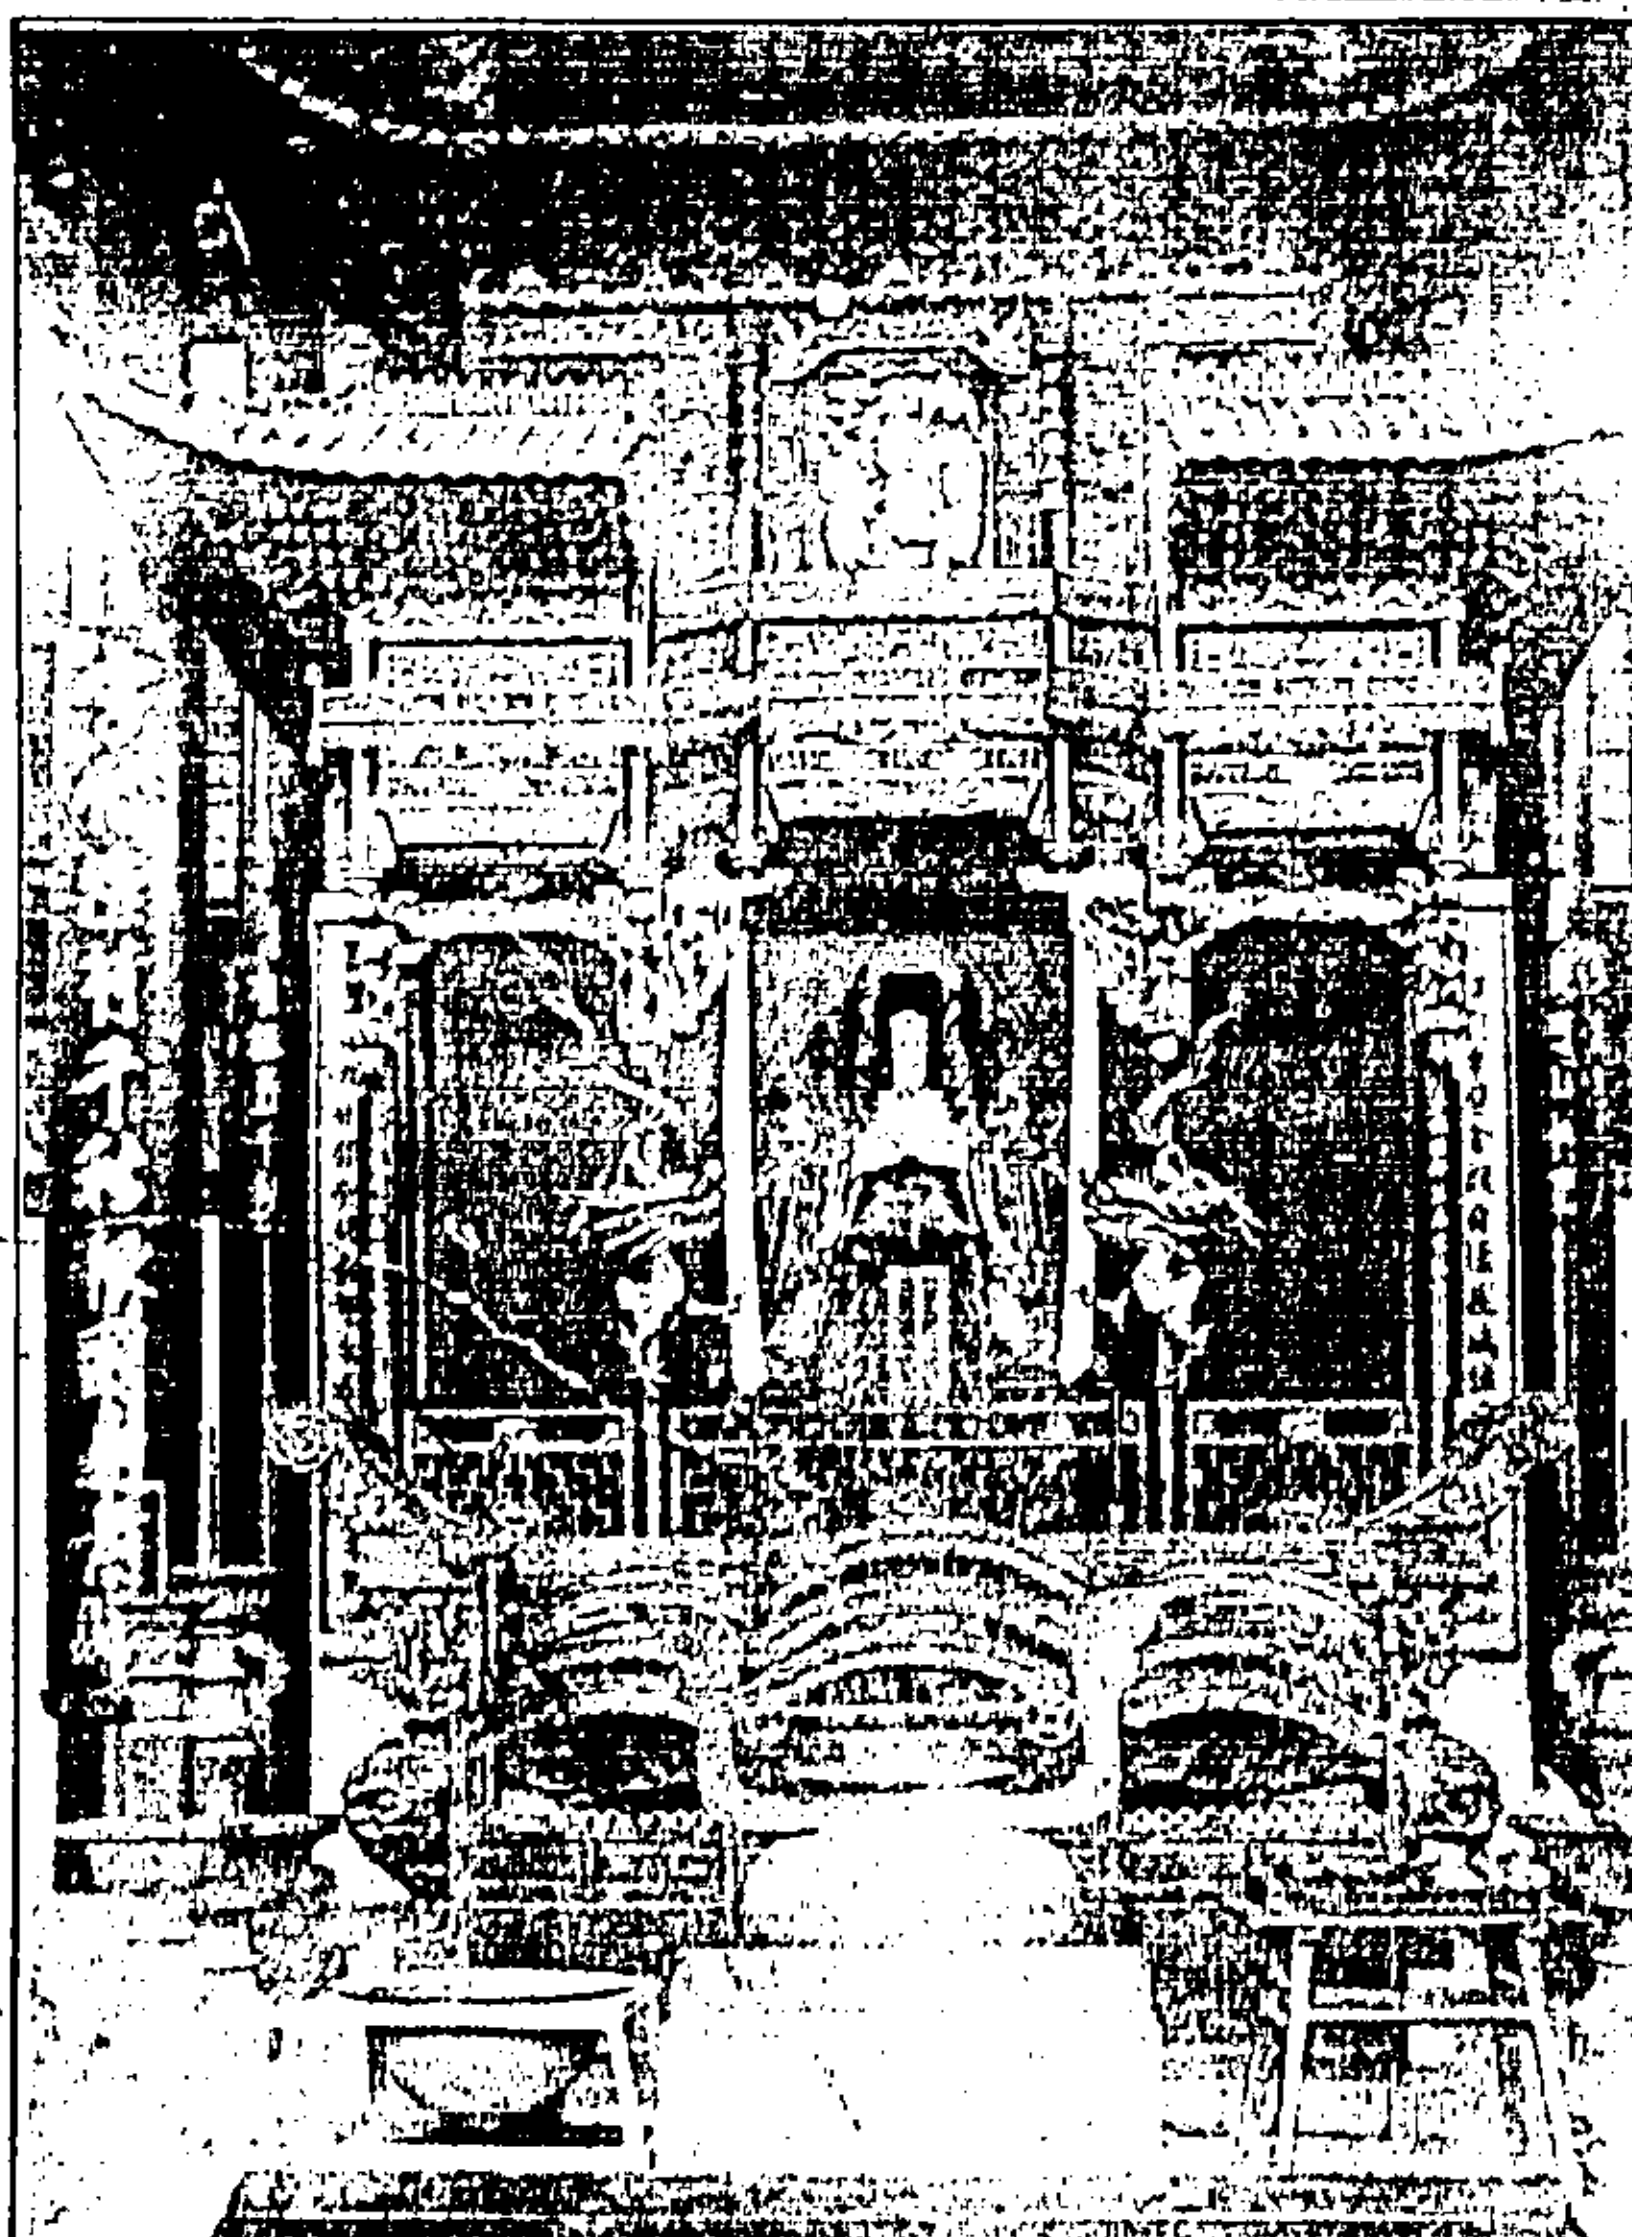

Lactogen furnishes a fat allowance comparable to breast milk. The special Lactogen emulsifying process ensures a very fine and widely-dispersed division of the fat globules, so that Lactogen is very easily digested and may be freely prescribed for even the most delicate infant. The fat content of Lactogen is maintained with meticulous accuracy by scientific control of the modification process.

SMALL COMPANIES INCREASE.

34,000 Private Concerns Formed In 4 Years.

RECORD FIGURE REACHED.

London. More and smaller companies are now the order of the day—a state of affairs partially due to the fact that in numerous instances several men with a little capital have joined together to start a concern of their own when they have been thrown out of work.

During the past four years, 34,000 private companies have been formed and at the moment private companies are being registered at Somerset House at the rate of some two hundred a week.

The result is that to-day there are more two- or three-men companies in Great Britain than ever before. Practically all trades, but especially food and clothing, are dealt with by these companies. Theatres and cinemas, hotels and laundries, schools and nurseries are other enterprises for which new companies formerly had been formed.

New private companies have an average capital of over £10,000 but the average is about £5,000.

The difference between a private and a public company is that a private company may consist of as few as two members, whereas a public limited liability company must have at least seven members. In addition, a private company need not present a statement in the form of a balance sheet in its annual summary.—Reuter.

POMP AT HAMPTON COURT AGAIN.

2,000 To Take Part In Pageant.

HISTORICAL PROGRAMME.

London. London's smoke and fog are not, as one would naturally suppose, altogether the result of modern industrial life, for it was to avoid the smokes and fogs of London that Cardinal Wolsey built Hampton Court in the sixteenth century.

The Cardinal ordered his doctors to discover for him the healthiest spot within 20 miles of London. After calling in other doctors from the Continent—some even came from as far away as Padua—they chose the site of Hampton Court, and Wolsey began to build the most magnificent palace which his brain could conceive.

But he was not to live in it for long—he gave it to his King, Henry VIII.

In a year's time the old brick palace will see something of the pomp and splendour which it knew in earlier days when it was the playground of kings. A great pageant, one of the largest ever staged, is to take place there. A whole year of preparation will be necessary and some 2,000 players will take part.

All the history of the Manor of Hampton will be portrayed in a series of episodes drawn from its rich and colourful past.—Reuter.

So of the family of Pate there are:—Alan Benjamin, Clara Delia, Elizabeth Fannie, Gustavus Houston, Ida Josephine, Kinco Lee, Milford Napoleon, Oma Pearl, Quinton Rebecah, Sidney Thomas, Uriah Vanderbilt, William Xavier.—Reuter.

ANTI-WAR DEMONSTRATORS EJECTED.

Amsterdam. About 80 demonstrators, most of them young girls belonging to an anti-war organisation, were ejected from a cinema where the German film, "Morgenrot," which deals with Germany's submarine campaign during the war, was being shown.

Their ejection followed a scuffle with the police.—Reuter.

TURKISH CURRENCY RESTRICTIONS.

Money Export Ruling Now Doubled.

Istanbul. No one living in Turkey can now remit abroad in any one month a greater sum than 220 Turkish Pounds, equal to about £31 sterling at present rates.

This new restriction in the export of currency is twice as severe as that hitherto in vogue. It coincides with new measures to discourage the long residence of the Turk abroad.

After three months absence from Turkey it will be difficult for any Turk to have money remitted to him unless he can produce convincing evidence that it is essential for him—either for business reasons or for health—to remain away from home.—Reuter.

TOWN THAT LIKES DOGS.

£2 Annual Tax On Cats.

Prague. The town of Teplitz-Schonau is unanimous in its liking for dogs and its distaste for cats.

The municipality recently decided to impose a tax of £2 a year on each cat. Now it is proposed to pass a law forbidding any inhabitant to keep a dog on a chain.

Dogs should be allowed greater freedom than is possible on the ordinary chain, it is argued. The suggestion is offered that the dog's chain be fastened to a ring which will slide along a stretched wire, giving the dog running room.—Reuter.

Aiken, South Carolina. Clerks at a bank here were somewhat dubious when a man brought a water bucket piled high with eggs to the institution, placed it in a window and said he wanted to make a deposit.

GROUP TO STUDY COSMIC RAYS.

Following Prof. Piccard's Observations.

TROPIC SITE CHOSEN.

Padua. A scientific expedition to Asmara, in the Italian Red Sea Colony of Eritrea, to study the cosmic rays which Professor Piccard observed in his balloon ascents into the stratosphere, is being organised by the University of Padua.

It is considered that the proximity of Asmara to the Magnetic equator, and its high altitude, should render it an ideal spot for observations and experiments. Cosmic radiation has been the special study of Professor Rossi, Director of the Institute of Physics in the University of Padua, for some years past.

His observations have led him to think that cosmic rays are not caused by ultra-gamma radiation but by radiation of a corpuscular character. It is suggested that these corpuscles, the nature of which is unknown, do not come from inter-stellar space at all but are generated in atmosphere by an unknown agent.

It will be recalled that Professor Piccard after his second balloon ascent last year described the rays as beating on the gondola of his balloon like rain.

It is felt that observations of the effect of the magnetic equator on the rays may quite possibly lead to important conclusions.—Reuter.

MORE PUBLIC WORKS FOR ITALY.

Extra Vote Of £2,400,000 For 1933.

£273,700,000 IN 10 YEARS.

Rome. During the past ten years of Fascist Rule, Italy has spent £273,700,000 in developing her natural resources by building new roads, aqueducts, bridges, and schools.

This figure was announced by Signor Di Crollanza, Minister of Public Works, when he presented to the Chamber of Deputies the estimates of his department for the coming year.

In 1933, despite the crisis, Italy will spend £2,400,000 more on public works than last year.

During the ten years of Fascism 3,750 miles of new roads have been opened and 320 miles of railway. Eighty-two ports have been expanded and developed in accordance with modern shipping developments. Schools to hold 620,000 more pupils have been built. A regular water supply has been assured by means of new or better aqueducts to 10,000,000 people. Thousands of people have been settled on reclaimed marshland.—Reuter.

AMERICA'S RUSH TO MAKE MONEY.

Engraving Bureau Speed Production.

U.S. MINT STATISTICS.

Washington, D.C. With millions of additional money in circulation as a result of America's effort to fight the banking crisis, the U.S. Bureau of Engraving has been forced to speed up production to meet the demands upon it for new currency.

This activity has stirred the National Geographic Society to assemble the following information about Uncle Sam's money factory:

In a normal year the bureau makes enough paper money to girdle the equator four times.

It makes 2,200 acres of postage stamps yearly, using enough typica starch in them to supply 9,000,000 people with typica pudding.

The 240 printing presses. Supply 12 banknotes every five seconds. There are 5,000 employees and the plant covers 10 acres.

The vault where the dies and plates are stored is so surrounded by mirrors that a guard standing near the door can see, not only all around the vault, but through a passage underneath it.

Electric alarms connect the vault with the Washington police department and with the Cavalry post at a nearby fort.

In another vault is stored tons of uncut sheets of paper money and bonds. There a person can pick up a single package worth $125,000,000.—Reuter.

FRENCH ASSASSIN SUSPECT

President Lebrun's Escape.

ARMED DEMONSTRATOR ARRESTED

Paris, Yesterday. The prompt action of the police possibly saved the life of the French President, M. Lebrun, while he was opening the new thoroughfare, Avenue Paul Doumer, here, yesterday.

A man in the crowd, making a noisy demonstration, was taken to the police station, where a search revealed that he was carrying a revolver.

The man's name is given as Etienne Lacoste.

He is believed to be an ex-Communist, who for a long time was a resident in Russia. He is now apparently mad.—Reuter.

President Doumer, whom the street was named after, was shot by a Russian assassin, and died from his wounds on May 7, last year.

£50,000,000 Issue Over-Subscribed.

London, Yesterday. Tenders for the £50,000,000, 2½ per cent. conversion loan 1934-1949, and Treasury bills, were opened yesterday at the Bank of England. The total amount applied for was £78,900,000.

Amounts allotted were: in conversion loan, nil; in bills at three months sight, £49,445,000.

For bills at three months sight, to date from Monday to Friday, applications at £39/18 and above were allotted in full, and those dated Saturday, at £39/18/1 and above, in full.—British Wireless Service.

CROWDED WEEK-END FOR CRIMINAL.

Escape From Gaol After Wedding.

Johannesburg. Married on Saturday morning, arrested on Saturday afternoon, a fugitive from prison on Sunday and recaptured on Monday is how a young man of 22 spent his week-end here.

One hour after his marriage, the man was arrested on a charge of stealing cash and jewellery valued at £85.

The following day, however, he succeeded in making a dramatic escape from prison. During the prisoners' recreation hour he managed to scale the 20-foot wall of the prison yard before being observed, and so make a dash for freedom.

He went to his home to re-join his bride. Four hours later the police arrested him again. They found a bottle of spirits of salts tied to the bridegroom's thigh.—Reuter.

AEROPLANE TO FLY BACKWARDS.

Great Possibilities For Strange Machine.

AUSTRIAN INVENTION.

London. Imagine an aeroplane able to: Rise vertically from the ground without having to run forward to take off. Remain stationary in the air, and fly forward, sideways or—if desired—backwards!

It sounds fantastic, like some wild dream of a weird world of the future—but these are the claims put forward by two young Austrian inventors for a new aircraft which they have made.

It is called "Revoplane," a queer skeleton of steel rods, with wheels like Dutch cheese, and an engine struck on its nose and a cranking handle jutting rather grotesquely in front of everything else.

The pilot sits on a canvas seat, his legs stretched straight out in front of him so that both feet rest against controls. Above his head a great horizontal propeller revolves. From behind him stretch two large wings, set vertically and looking like those of a grasshopper, intended to stabilise this machine in the air.

A test of the machine has been carried out at Heston aerodrome, though at present neither of the inventors, Herr Bruno Nagler and Herr Raoul Hafner, are able to fly it.

So it was tied to the ground by ropes, ropes against which it strained like some huge, but fettered, flying insect. It rose from the ground, just for the foot which the ropes allowed, and then sank to earth again. As the controls were changed it rose on each of its three little wheels in turn.

The two inventors have spent eight years on the machine, and they believe that it foreshadows the possibility of aircraft landing on roofs and on extremely small patches of ground.—Reuter.

Identity Not Lost After Death

Lessons Taught By The Resurrection

CHRISTIAN HOPE AND CONSOLATION

(By A Local Padre.)

(This is another of the series of articles written exclusively for the "Sunday Herald" by a local Army chaplain.)

THE question has been sometimes asked, What was the reason that lay behind our Lord's appearances during the forty days that followed the Resurrection? Why did He still linger on instead of returning at once to His Father?

Patterson Smythe in his book on the Life of Christ has explained it better than anyone else. The forty days, he tells us, were meant especially for the education of the disciples, on whom now He had to rely for the spreading of the Kingdom which He had come to found.

Outsiders would not have been able to appreciate these revelations. It required a certain preparation. If Christ had been raised to the old natural human life, as Lazarus was, it would have been easier to understand. They had to be taught the life of Christ, and that through the ages He would be invisibly present with His people, in a new mode of existence, hitherto unknown.

The wild delight of that Easter Day seemed to leave little room for any further thought than that their beloved Lord was back with them again. His enemies had not triumphed after all. They had to be taught that the Resurrection was the beginning of a new order. Step by step He taught them of that life as they could bear it.

In His first appearance to Mary Magdalene the lesson started. In her wondering joy she threw herself at His feet, "Rabboni, my Master." She had found the friend she had lost, no more than that. She had no loftier title. He was to her the same human Jesus. In His reply He corrected and raised her thoughts. "Touch Me not." Things are changed. It was the first intimation that the old intimacy was changed for a higher fellowship.

So with the disciples on the Emmaus Road. Their hearts burned within them as they talked to them. At the end He revealed Himself. But He remained only long enough for them to be certain of His identity, then He withdrew. So the truth dawned on them that He belonged to a new order, that the claims of an invisible world were on Him, where they could not follow as yet. Then He appeared to the assembled disciples, when the doors were shut. Doors and walls were no obstacle to Him now for He was no longer subject to earthly conditions.

The Hidden Presence. And so through all the other appearances. He was seen and recognised only as He will and when He wills. He appears suddenly, and as suddenly goes. He arranges to meet the disciples in Galilee, but does not go with them. When they arrive, He suddenly appears. He spoke to Thomas words which showed that He was present and listening to them all, when Thomas was expressing doubt. So the conviction of His unseen presence gradually dawned on their minds.

As the forty days went by, their awe and wonder deepened. They saw that He was no longer subject to human needs, nor bound by the laws of earth. How tired He once used to be, and hungry and thirsty.—How glad of the shelter of the quiet home at Bethany.—Now all this is changed. The risen Christ no longer needed shelter or rest. He needed no earthly home, and steadily the conviction grew that He was moving in another and higher sphere of existence than that of the old days on earth. He was felt to be different and yet—the same. He had the same peculiarities of voice and manner, the same unconscious gestures which distinguish one man from another. His love was as in the old days, strong and unchanged. The old topics of conversation were quietly resumed as if the chain of death, and the three days in the World of the Departed, had not intervened at all.

Before His death He had told them—"After I am risen I will go before you into Galilee."—Now He says—"Tell my brethren to go into Galilee. There shall ye see Me, as I have told you." The continuity of the old life was unbroken.

And His treatment of men was the same. Peter for example. First the touching message from the tomb—"Go tell My disciples and Peter" (especially Peter) who is breaking his heart over his faithless denial. Then the private interview that Peter would never divulge, then the threefold question "Lovest thou Me?" to correspond with his threefold denial. The same treatment, the same skillful hand. In every act they recognize the heart of the earthly Jesus unchanged by death.

The Great Change

We see too, a change from their old attitude of respectful affection, humble adoration and awe have come into it. They used to sit and talk with Him, and eat with Him. One of them used to recline upon His breast. Now this is over. They call Him, "my Lord and my God."

Gradually but surely they learned the lesson of the forty days, that it was the Eternal Son of God in human guise Who had been their comrade and friend, that He had passed into a higher order, that He could be present with them when they saw Him not, that a spiritual and eternal friendship had taken the old human tie.

So well did they learn it, that at last they could look forward calmly to the great parting which was to come. There we might reasonably have expected sorrow and desolation, but there was none. Earth was richer and grander. He would be with them to the end of the ages. And there are things we can learn too. When we die we shall remain the same men and women, and yet be different. We shall not lose our identity, our memory our love. We shall know and be known. We shall preserve the little traits of character which individualize us here, but glorified by an ennobling change of motive and aim.

On the day of the Cross, the Master comforted the dying thief and told him that they would know each other as the two had been hanging on the Cross that morning. The Easter manifestations tell us of One who was dead like our dead once, yet when He came back to meet His friends on earth was as human and as much their friend as ever. The river of death had not washed out the memory of the days that were gone, nor destroyed the affection for the friends of old.

And in the certainty of that fact lies the Christian hope and consolation in the life beyond the grave, when our work is over, and our work is done.

PORTUGUESE REGULATIONS "IRRITATING"

Lack Of Co-Operation At Port Of Beira.

RHODESIAN PREMIER'S WARNING

Salisbury.
The part played by British capital and enterprise in developing the important Portuguese port of Beira was emphasised by the Premier of Southern Rhodesia (Mr. H. U. Moffat), speaking at a banquet in connection with the annual congress of the Association of Chambers of Commerce of Rhodesia. He warned the Portuguese authorities that if they persisted with what he described as "irritating regulations," Rhodesia would look elsewhere for a harbour.
"About a year ago," said Mr. Moffat, "I visited Beira in order to discuss with the Governor a number of outstanding questions. The Governor was able to meet me on a number of matters, and I wish to express my appreciation of the manner in which he clearly desired to come to an agreement."
"But I felt it my duty to state that the general policy of the Government of Beira does not show that desire for co-operation with and consideration of the interests of this territory and of the other British territories on which the port of Beira almost entirely depends for its very existence as a port."
"I do not say that the Government of Mozambique Territory have in any way exceeded their legal rights, but I say that in view of the position of Beira in regard to the inland countries I expect a more sympathetic attitude towards the British hinterland."

Beira, he said, was served by two railways, one extending through the two Rhodesias, the other to Blantyre serving Nyasaland. Every penny-piece of cash expended on the building of those railways and on the construction of port works, running into millions of money, was British capital.

Zambesi Bridge.

British enterprise was to-day building a bridge across the Zambesi to serve Nyasaland at a cost of something like £3,000,000—again all British capital. The trade on which the port depended for its very existence as a port was mainly supplied from those inland British countries. A certain amount from the Belgian Congo flowed through the port of Beira, but the Congo now had its own port on the west coast, which in future could considerably decrease that traffic.

"Rules and regulations irritating to British firms in Beira have been passed," Mr. Moffat continued. "On the question of major policy, such as that of currency, the Government of Mozambique Territory maintain a policy directly inimical to our trade, in spite of our repeated representations. This policy is Government there. On New Year's Day the six members of the Upper House and the six members of the Lower House, as well as the magistrate, who controlled them like a patriarch, were elected. The islanders lived on goat flesh and fish. Because of their isolation they were self-supporting."

"The Government at Beira may feel that owing to their geographical position they need not consider the interests of this hinterland that they are safe in ignoring our representations, that, in short, we must use their port."
"But I would warn our friends that a free port—I mean a port free of this irksome policy—is essential to us, and that it is this that is forcing us to look elsewhere for an outlet."—Reuter.

PIGEON BEAT PLANE

Melbourne, Victoria.

While his older brethren were fogbound in the middle of Bass Strait, a three-months-old pigeon courier released from the air-liner Tasman going at 95 miles an hour between Flinders Island and Australia winged his way home with a message, beating the plane by 10 minutes.—Reuter.

AFRICAN TOUR NEXT

Milan.
Mr. Anton Gittinger may be the smallest man in Milan—he is a 37-year-old Austrian dwarf—but he is afraid of nothing. Not even the North Pole.

Three years ago he decided to go for a walk, all alone, to the North Pole. He got within the Arctic Circle where he was found by Dr. Knud Rasmussen, the Arctic explorer, who was on an expedition to Greenland. He stayed with the expedition for two years, until they were able to put him ashore in a civilised country.

They landed him at North Cape, the extreme northern point of Norway, and he has just made his way to Italy from there.

When Anton made up his mind to go to the North Pole he first went to Norway where he bought a fur costume, some cases of supplies, and eight sleigh dogs. Then he started on his journey northward.

As he travelled into the polar regions his food supplies gave out and he killed and ate his dogs only the last one escaping by running away.

He was left stranded on the ice fields, starving to death. There he was found by Rasmussen as he lay in the snow, too weak to walk.

The exploring party adopted the tiny man and nursed him back to life. They kept him with them for two years.

Now Anton has returned from the north, his only baggage a minute haversack and two enormous volumes covered with signatures and photographs of himself taken on his Arctic travels.

At present he is planning a walking trip to Africa, and may later set off for the Himalayas.—Reuter.

PITCAIRN ISLAND CUSTOMS

Church-Going Is Main Recreation.

VISITORS CANNOT SMOKE

Sydney, New South Wales.
The custom of the inhabitants of Pitcairn Island—the lonely outpost in the Pacific, made famous by the mutiny of the Bounty—were related by Mr. Charles Chauvel, the motion picture producer.

Mr. Chauvel said he found the islanders extremely religious. Their principal recreation was to go to church.

Visitors were not allowed to smoke. They would not dare to open a bottle of whisky or brandy; and even dress was a matter of far-reaching importance. Some of the women residents were so incensed at the visitors wearing shorts that, yielding to their entreaties, they changed their attire.

There was a unique form of Government there. On New Year's Day the six members of the Upper House and the six members of the Lower House, as well as the magistrate, who controlled them like a patriarch, were elected. The islanders lived on goat flesh and fish. Because of their isolation they were self-supporting.

Cocoanuts and other fruits brought to the island by the crew of the Bounty were still growing, and the coconut was used to supply milk, butter and cream.

The islanders, said Mr. Chauvel, believed with religious fervour that the end of the world was in sight, and for that reason made no provision for the future. They were not planting young cocoanuts. They did not believe in storing up anything on earth for future use. At first their agricultural implements were made from the iron of the Bounty, but subsequently a shipment of farm implements arrived from England, which were still in use.

"Apparently," said Mr. Chauvel, "it is a place for freedom from nagging wives. I met a Scotsman there who had left his wife and Australia winged his way home with a message, beating the plane by 10 minutes.—Reuter.

MR. W. G. FISCHER PAYS $87.30 FOR PLACE ON STICKYPAST

Opening Sensation.

The first race of the day, the Griffins Summer Handicap, gave an indication of the surprises in store when Mr. "Benny" Proulx romped home on Solar Star to pay $40.60 and $18.20, while Widnes (Mr. Young) paid $26.60 for second place.

The field of five starters got the pace with Widnes following away together and Jungle Jim set on the outside with Solar Star third. Mr. Proulx secured his winning advantage in the back straight when he caught the leaders and burst through to win by 1½ lengths. Widnes beating Jungle Jim by half a length. Wayward Stag and Street Singer fought every inch of the last 50 yards with Jungle Jim, but were just nosed out in an exciting finish.

"Benny's" Second Win.

Mr. Proulx registered his second successive win when he brought Alexandra Hall home in the Smugglers Handicap to pay $26.80 for a win. The Samson candidate was third favourite.

California was left at the post when the eight ponies were sent away. Alexandra Hall going into the lead followed by Mignonette. At the Rock Tillium (Mr. Frost) had recovered from a poor start and was lying third, while Royal Flush was coming through well.

Mr. Heard brought the favourite through in the straight, but was outdistanced by Mr. Proulx's mount, being beaten by 2 lengths; while Tillium nearly annexed second place.

Favourite Pays $16.60.

Attempting to record his "hut trick" in the Customs Handicap, Mr. "Benny" Proulx was placed third on Charming Face after a splendid effort which was rewarded by a $20.20 dividend.

Mr. Soares sent Jungle into the lead, but Mr. Proulx was close behind. At the Rock Jingle still led, followed by Burgomaster. Charming Face and Valley Hall, with King Salmon in a good position. Warrington, (Mr. Heard) however, moved up on the bend coming into the straight, and broke through on the inside to beat Partnership (Mr. Liang) by a length, the latter pony beating the Samson candidate by 2½ lengths to pay $36.30. Warrington, the favourite, paid $16.60.

Amoy (Mr. Botelho), who got away to a bad start, was fourth, followed by King Salmon, Burgomaster, Banjo, Iron Grey, Jingle, Black Rock, King's Parade, The Goat and Valley Hall.

Navy Hall's False Start.

Bistre gave trouble at the start of the Lead Mine Handicap and as a result a false start was witnessed. Mr. "Benny" Proulx securing a flying start on Navy Hall.

When the ten ponies eventually got away Navy Hall was caught in two minds and was out of the race. Marquis Hall setting a corking pace up to the Rock where he led Don and The Tiger. Bistre was left at the post.

Coming into the straight Mr. Butler's mount found the pace too much, and Mr. Frost came through in magnificent style to secure his first win in two meetings. The Tiger paid $29.60 for his thrilling last-minute effort.

Valorous, who looked the likely winner at the distance post, was caught some fifty yards from the winning post and only nosed out Navy Hall for second place.

Marquis Hall was fourth, followed by Don, Blue Star, Tom, Wonderful Stag, Bright Star, and Bistre.

The Favourites Win.

The Second Leighton Hill Stakes provided Mr. Frost with his second win of the afternoon, the Panther easily outstripping the field of ten starters to win from No Fear (Mr. Heard) by two lengths. It was the only procession race of the afternoon, Darnen being third all the way round.

Paul Jones was fourth, followed by A.M. L. Soares's Jangle Jim, Triumph, Golden Hope and Glorious Day.

Portia Equals Record.

The Victoria Park Handicap provided the fastest time of the afternoon Portia (Mr. Heard) winning in 1.21.2, to equal Season Ticket's 1932 record.

From the outset a very fast pace was set by Mr. Butler on Votim. He led at the Rock with Lucy Glitters (Mr. Proulx), Portia, and The Giraffe (Mr. Frost) close on his heels. Portia, however, came through beautifully in the straight to beat Lucy Glitters by two lengths in a stirring finish, Votim filling third place and The Giraffe fading out of the picture.

The Giraffe was fourth, followed by City of Melbourne, Kilrea, Canny, Aurora, The Raindrop, and Sunup. Tecumseh (Mr. Carroll) was left at the start and did not complete the course, being led in by his "mafo."

Jockeyship Tells.

Jockeyship won the Second Sports Club Cup and Hong Kong Stakes. Had Mr. Peter Young been a little more experienced he would not have rounded the bend into the straight in such a wide manner, and as a result he would have brought De Minimis home for a good win. As it was he lost six lengths on the bend and was forced into third place to Gay Butterfly (Mr. Heard) and Melody (Mr. da Rosa).

Gay Butterfly provided Mr. "Johnny" Heard with his third win of the afternoon by responding magnificently in the last quarter to win by a length from Melody.

Gay Butterfly's second win was worth $44.40 to knowing punters. Now's The Time was fourth and the remaining ponies finished in the following order: Bold General, Disorderly Conduct, National Day, Victor, Bagulo, Duplex and Grand Slam.

Broken Stirrup Causes Spills.

The Fotamun Handicap witnessed two spills at the start. Mr. Ferguson's stirrup broke and he fell on to Mr. Carroll causing that jockey to become unseated. This incident robbed the field of sixteen of Christmas Belle and Spotted Leaf.

Toby (Mr. Frost), was left at the start, and another favourite failed to restart.

Mr. Butler's riding in this race was the feature of the afternoon. Twenty yards from the post he was lying third to Imperial Hall (Mr. Heard) and Krata Viz (Mr. Fischer) but in a magnificent finish, he brought Devon home by a neck to pay $41.10 for a win. It was the best piece of riding witnessed at the Valley this year.

Mr. Fischer also showed good jockeyship when he gave Krata Viz his first place of the season to pay $55.80. It was in the back straight that he made his bid for what would have been the highest win dividend of the year.

Favourites Caught at Start.

The Novices race, the Shatin Handicap, attracted a large field of nineteen starters, but it was marred by a bad start. Adam, the favourite, and Esk being left at the post.

Mr. Yue Shun Wa, seeing the plight of the favourites, sent Orlando to the fore as soon as he could, and as a result had established such a commanding lead at the Rock that the race was as good as won.

Stickypast (Mr. Fischer) and The Gadwall (Mr. Hope) kept on the heels of the Festival entry, but they could not offer a stern enough struggle in the straight, though Orlando was showing signs of tiring. Powerful King (Mr. Chanson) was fourth and Adam (Mr. Keswick), Esk (Mr. Choy), Fi Fa (Mr. Sewell) and Gold Ring (Mr. Fung) followed in that order. Night Patrol, with Mr. Ellis Joseph up, was last in the field of nineteen.

Orlando paid $34.70 and $6.10, while Stickypast rewarded daring supporters with $87.30 and The Gadwall with $67.20.

The most popular car in its class is the 1933 SINGER

Wherever you go these days you see an extraordinary number of Singers on the roads. Why? Because the new 1933 models have created a new standard of motoring value. They offer the motorist, comfortable, speedy transport at low upkeep cost. The redesigned combustion chamber gives greater power though the petrol consumption is low. The Singer coachwork is roomy and dignified, yet weight has been kept down so that tyres last longer. A Singer represents intelligent economy. That is why more people are becoming Singer enthusiasts every day.

"STYLE," as applied to the Packard, has always meant something more.

Associated with it, logically and distinctively, is the other important word, "enduring"—a Packard characteristic for a third of a century.

So gradually and correctly has Packard style evolved—like the slow unfolding of a beautiful flower—it has never been at the mercy of that capricious mood which too often alienates to-morrow's style from that of to-day.

BRITISH CARS IN MANY MISHAPS

Thrills And Spills In Monte Carlo Rally.

WINTRY CONDITIONS FACE DRIVERS

Within a few hours of the start of the Monte Carlo Rally intense cold over Europe began to take its toll. Mishaps and accidents, fortunately none serious, eliminated a number of competitors, and the British contingent suffered severely.

The most alarming accident happened to Mrs. Morna Vaughan, last year's winner of the ladies' prize, who, with Mrs. T. H. Wisdom and Mrs. Gates as her "crew," was among the large party starting from Tallinn, in Estonia. Soon after leaving, on a snowbound road near Pernau their car overturned. Mrs. Vaughan was dazed and bruised when extricated, but neither she nor her companions were seriously hurt. They at once set to work to repair the car and drove on to Riga.

On the previous Wednesday, while on her way to the start, Mrs. Vaughan's Standard car had been ditched in Lithuania, when a passing car forced her off the road.

Dad luck befell those starting from Stavanger, in Norway. Mrs. K. Petro and Miss Joan Richmond broke down in their Riley car on the first section of their route. They managed to reach Kristianstad, but were thirty-eight minutes late there, and had to stop for repairs to the car. J. G. Smithson, driving an M.G., was sixty-eight minutes late at the same point owing to radiator trouble. He had to employ twenty men to drag his car to Tronsaasen Hill, and water for the overheated cooler was fetched in a boat as no other vessel was available.

F. S. Hutchens (Wolseley Hornet) was stopped with his car badly damaged. T. V. G. Selby (Ford) lost his way, a mistake which cost him seventy-five minutes.

A car in which were Per Schenke and Branne Torstensen, Norwegians, sank through the ice on a lake. Schenke got free, and by diving rescued his companion.

Heavy Snowdrifts.

Of the sixteen who started from Athens, the longest and by far the most arduous of all the routes allowed in the rally, only three reached Yugoslav territory. One of the three was the only British competitor, R. St. G. Riley, driving a car of the same name. Heavy snowdrifts had made parts of the road almost impassable.

All cars made for Monte Carlo covering distances varying from 2,352 to 1,000 miles at an average speed of twenty-five miles an hour, with no allowance for meals or sleep. This annual struggle against time and weather was made more difficult this time by a rule that time lost at any intermediate control cannot be made up.

Of the record British entry of fifty-one, twenty-eight started from John o' Groats, via Aberdeen, Glasgow, and Harrogate, to London where they caught a special cross-Channel steamer at Folkestone.

Between Inverness and Aberdeen they encountered very severe weather conditions, and at times some of them had to use spades to clear a way through the snow. One had the misfortune to lose his pocket-book containing his passport.

WIRELESS IN CARS

Increasingly Popular

Twenty-three out of the 30 important American manufacturers of cars are equipping their saloon models with built-in wireless aeriols.

Wireless sets specially designed for cars—they can be used while the vehicle is in motion—are becoming increasingly popular. What will happen when an owner listening to a symphony concert on the Regional has to stop in a traffic block alongside another tuned in to a jazz band on the National?—"The Motor Cycle."

Motor Cycle Sales In Britain

Nearly A Thousand A Week.

Figures, it is alleged, can prove anything. Last year 50,072, new motor cycles were registered for the first time, while at the peak period of 1932 the number of machines in actual use was 599,004. Thus (says The Motor Cycle) we have the fact that roughly one in every twelve machines in use was new. Does this prove that the average motor cycle lasts for twelve years? A slide-rule enthusiast might maintain that it does, but, as we all know, the life of a motor cycle, given due care, attention, and, now and then, new parts, is everlasting.

What the figures for 1932, which have just been issued, do prove beyond all doubt is the popularity of 15s. tax and passenger machines. A total of 8,902 light motor cycles of under 150 c.c. was registered in 1932, together with 8,891 passenger motor cycles, consisting of 4,105 three-wheelers and 4,786 sidecar outfits.

CAR WHEEL LEAPS ON ROUSETOP

Bank Of England Chief Escapes

Witham (Essex). The wheel of a motorcar flew off while going along the road here, and then it—

Bounded along the road for 40 yards.

Struck the edge of the pavement and bounced on to the top of an iron fence, from which—

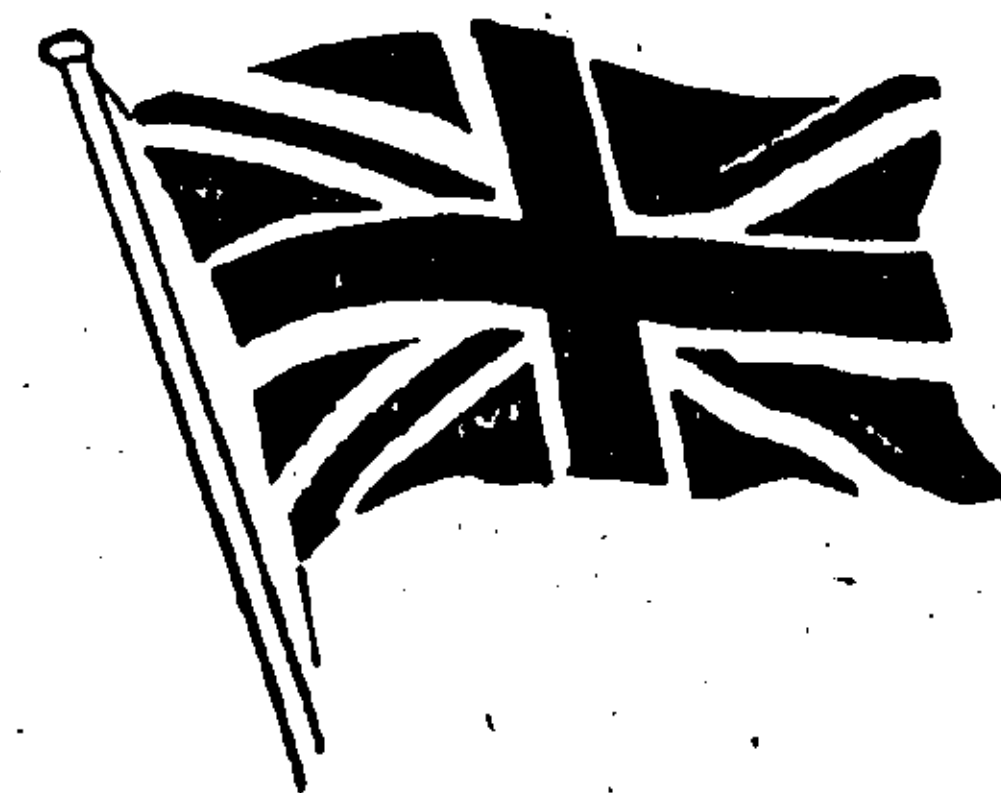

It leaped into the air on to the roof of a house. The driver of the car, Mr. A. M. Walker, chief accountant at the Bank of England, was able to stop the vehicle without further mishap.

FAREWELL DINNER TO MR. G. F. TAYLOR.

Officer In Charge Of Lighthouses.

INSTITUTE OF ENGINEERS AND SHIPBUILDERS.

Mr. G. F. Taylor, Officer in Charge of Lighthouses, Hong Kong, who is leaving the Colony on retirement, by the s.s. Carthage on May 20, was last night presented with a gold wrist watch and a cheque, by Mr. G. Tully, President of the Institute of Engineers and Shipbuilders, on behalf of the members.

The presentation took place at a smoking concert, held at the Institute under the Chairmanship of Mr. P. T. Farrell. About one hundred members attended to farewell Mr. Taylor.

Mr. Tully, in making the presentation referred to Mr. Taylor's sojourn of 32 years in the Colony, and to the services rendered by him to the Institute, in the positions of Vice-President, Chairman, and Vice-Chairman mentioning his enthusiasm for wireless, he described him as the pioneer of broadcasting in the Colony.

Mr. Taylor in thanking the members of the Institute for the mark of appreciation they had shown him, stated that he had always endeavoured to give of his utmost in the service of the Institute, and owing to the co-operation of other members had been enabled to attain good results.

He denied the rumour that he intended to return to the Colony, but stated that he would settle down in England. Referring to his position as billiards handicapper, he stated that he had obtained much pleasure when occupying this position, and had made many friends.

BOTH MILITARY AND ECONOMIC DISARMAMENT.

CHARHAR CEDED TO JAPAN.

"Since the Japanese occupied Dohor (a city in northern Charhar) they have made fervent preparations to push farther south," the message states. "Now only a few companies of soldiers remain, but they are devoid of food supplies and provisions. Rumours are flying round that the National Government has ceded Charhar to the Japanese. In the circumstances, not only recovery of lost provinces is impossible but even the defence of Charhar is out of question."

"The loss of Charhar will endanger Peking and Tientsin. I therefore implore you to send a big army and air force to Charhar for the recapture of places taken by the Japanese."—Reuter.

HARBIN EDITOR'S DEPORTATION

British Consul Lodges Protest.

MR. LENOX SIMPSON

Harbin, Yesterday.

It is learned that the British Consular authorities here, pending instructions from the British Legation in Peking, have strongly protested to the Manchukuo Foreign Office against the projected deportation of the British editor and publisher of the Harbin Herald, Mr. Lenox Simpson, on the ground that such an action would be a violation of British Treaty rights.

Meanwhile three of Mr. Simpson's Russian employees are now under arrest, being charged with printing Communist propaganda. Mr. Simpson, who is the brother of the famous "Putnam Velea," who was killed by mysterious gunmen in Tientsin, is alleged to have published anti-Manchukuo and pro-Communist writings.—Reuter.
